An Adventure from Beginning to End

Your path to historic and cultural riches, rolling landscapes, picturesque mountain and river vistas and inspiring recreational activities along one of the most charming roads you can travel. Right here in New Jersey.

Just imagine the discoveries you can make along the byway

Authentic local heritage

Experience farm life, historic sites, shrines and annual festivals for a snapshot of the culture and heritage on the byway.

Take a glimpse into life on a farm

From pick-your-own fruit experiences to tractor rides to sampling farm fresh goodies, the farms on the byway could keep you busy all day.

Snag one-of-a-kind treasures

The towns along the byway are home to a number of not-your-typical brick-and-mortar stores, including an antique auction house. If you're looking for that special piece to fill out your collection, you might just find it during your byway adventure.

Unique annual festivals and events on the byway

Celebrate holidays, seasons, music and more at one of the many annual festivals that take place here. Car shows, fruit picking festivals and fishing tournaments also happen seasonally on the byway.

Fresh fares on the byway

Whether you're looking for a hearty meal, a quick snack or fare made from area-sourced products, you can find local neighborhood eateries to satisfy your cravings and excite your taste buds.

* The US Forest Service has designated this as a waterway in the National Wild and Scenic Rivers System, signifying that it has remarkable scenic, recreational, geologic, fish and wildlife, historic or other similar values.

History you can find only here

Learn the significance of a cement plant, explore a village display of indigenous people and get to know the area's ties to the Civil War and Revolutionary War.

Take the concrete mile

A one mile stretch of concrete pays homage to Thomas Edison's famous cement plant located in New Jersey. The company supplied concrete for the state's first concrete highway in 1912 and the original Yankee Stadium.

Historic replicas bookend the byway

On one end of the byway at Bread Lock Park, experience interactive dioramas and displays of Warren County history, including the Morris Canal, Shippen Manor, Oxford Furnace and the Lenape people. As you make your way to the other end of the byway, visit Waterloo Village and view the Winakung village display.

Merrill Creek Reservoir

Outdoor recreation, where fun comes naturally

Take in the spectacular mountain, rolling field and river views. The countless trails and plenty of recreation on the canal, creeks and rivers mean there's something for every outdoor enthusiast. The byway attracts hikers, birders, anglers, photographers, kayakers, canoers, sightseers and cyclists alike.

Adventures on the water

Walk the banks of the Morris Canal or paddle on its calm, serene waters. From the byway you have access to the Wild and Scenic* Musconetcong River. The river is close to 46 miles long, surrounds you in a lush landscape and feeds into the Delaware River. The Musconetcong River is a popular destination for fishing.

View the byway from the mountains

See the byway from a mountain vantage point. The byway is home to some of the region's most distinctive mountain ridges including, Scotts Mountain, Pohatcong Mountain and Point Mountain.
